

Lecturer in Modern Greek History

Department of History

Location: Egham

Salary: £42,926 per annum - including London Allowance

Closing Date: Friday 14 December 2018

Interview Date: Friday 18 January 2019

Reference: 1118-441

Applications are invited for a three year fixed-term post of Lecturer (Teaching & Research) in modern Greek History funded by the Greek Ministry of Culture & Sports and the A. G. Leventis Foundation. Candidates will normally have completed a PhD in modern European History and be able to demonstrate a developing record of publications. The candidate will be expected to teach modern Greek history, contributing also to wider teaching on the history Modern Europe and the Mediterranean, as well as transnational and diaspora studies. They will also contribute to core undergraduate teaching in the History Department and to modern European MA teaching. They will, additionally, participate in the Department's admissions activities and its public engagement work. This is a full-time post to begin 01 September 2019. It is based in Egham, Surrey, where the College is situated in a beautiful, leafy campus near to Windsor Great Park and within commuting distance from London.

Competitive Benefits package:

Royal Holloway, University of London offers a highly competitive benefits package including:

- Generous annual leave entitlement
- Training and Development opportunities
- Pension Scheme with generous employer contribution
- Various schemes including Cycle to Work, Season Ticket Loans and help with the cost of Eyesight testing.
- Free parking
- Enhanced provision for Maternity, Adoption and Shared Parental Leave

For an informal discussion about the post, please contact Professor Kate Cooper, Head of History, at: kate.cooper@rhul.ac.uk or via telephone on: +44 (0)1784 443295.

To view further details of this post and to apply please visit <http://www.rhul.ac.uk/aboutus/jobvacancies/home.aspx>.

The RHUL Recruitment Team can be contacted with queries by email at: recruitment@rhul.ac.uk or via telephone on: +44 (0)1784 41 4241.

Closing Date: Noon, 14 December 2018

Interview Date: Interviews are expected to be held on 18 January 2019.

Email details to a friend

Apply Online

Further details:

- Job Description
- Person Specification

The University is committed to equality and diversity, and encourages applications from all sections of the community.